

SNP Glue

Making your data more powerful

Overcome challenges in data integration with SNP Glue

SNP Glue is the optimal data integration solution to move data from applications, like SAP, that present complex data extraction challenges due to their system-specific characteristics. It allows you to access multiple systems and easily move data to cloud platforms to support data-driven use cases.

SNP Glue provides a unified and straightforward way to integrate data, whether it comes from SAP, non-SAP, or a combination of both, enabling you to connect and consolidate data from different systems and applications and gain a comprehensive view of your data. This allows you to tap into additional data sources and use cloud-native functions for improved data integration processes. The intuitive user interface and comprehensive features simplify the complexity associated with integrating data across different systems and ensure accurate, real-time data integration.
